

Sarah joined the Community Engagement practice at Bousfields in June 2019. She draws from several years of experience developing communications and engagement materials in the areas of cycling advocacy, environmental education, and liveable and resilient cities networks.

Having focussed on community engagement in her Master's research, she values taking a listening-first approach to balance the needs of residents, business owners and community organizations in developments of all types and scales. She is interested in the ways in which people interact with their communities and is passionate about communicating people's lived experience across demographics and geographies.

SARAH BRADLEY

M.Sc.Pl., B.E.S.

PROJECT MANAGER

---

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

- |  |                         |
|--|-------------------------|
| Project ManagerBousfields Inc.  | June 2019 - Present     |
| Communications ManagerCycle Toronto   | Nov. 2017 - May 2019    |
| Communications CoordinatorOntario EcoSchools                                | Sept. 2015 - Nov. 2017  |
| Assistant Curator, Cities for People Program (Montreal)McConnell Foundation | Jan. 2015 - June 2018   |
| Cashier and Strategic Planning Committee MemberKarma Co-op (Toronto)        | December 2017 - Present |

EDUCATION, PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS & MEMBERSHIPS

- Master of Science, Planning, University of Toronto, 2014
- Bachelor of Environmental Studies, Minor in French, University of Waterloo, 2012
- Urban Land Institute, Associate Member