

Anne joined Bousfields as a Planner in May 2021, after completing her Master of Science in Planning at the University of Toronto, where she specialized in Urban Design and Social Planning. Previously, she earned an Honours Bachelor of Arts from the University of Toronto in Human Geography and Archaeology. Prior to joining Bousfields and completing her Masters, Anne worked at a Toronto-based private developer as a Development Coordinator where she assisted with several developments across the GTA.

Anne believes that inclusive planning and community engagement are at the cornerstone of any successful project and uses this guiding principle in her daily work at Bousfields.
